

Boxed Thins

This stuff is the bomb, seriously.

Real, authentic reclaimed/weathered paneling that's easy to install and looks spectacular.

All pieces are 5" wide, all 5/16" thick*. Every box holds 30 square feet, in lengths of 1', 2', 3', & 4' (heavy to the 4-footers). You hardly need a calculator, let alone a contractor (well,if you're handy). DIY Not??

Color assortments: Gray Blend, Brown Blend, Gray-and-Brown Blend (shown here), All Redwood (distinctly different), and Mixed Hardwood Bright Thins. (Wait, what? Yes, Mixed Hardwood Bright Thins. We take reclaimed and weathered boards and band-saw the weathered faces off. You get real rustic material but with clean and bright faces. No softwoods. Survey says... "way cool!")

*Okay, don't say we didn't warn you. Like everything else, somebody has to make a cheap knockoff. You can find something like this at the home centers. New wood that's been sliced and chemically treated to look old. And it's 1/4" thick. That's really thin, folks. Caveat emptor (which is Latin for "don't come cryin' to me when you find out it sucks").
